ADDITIONAL REMARKS

(Use this sheet for inserting any additional information that is of historical value.)

Serg't. Robinson was assigned to desk work upon arrival at Camp, and kept there until health failed and the attention of Major Lehn at Ellington Field was called to his condition. He was put under hospital treatment for throat. Later, about Sept. 20th 1919, to Fort Bayard, is still under treatment at that point.

On May 7, 1912, I re-enlisted in U.S. Navy as Machinist, and served through the Mexican campaign after which I "purchased out" and entered the merchant marine, visiting all main South American Ports, including Argentine, Chile, Peru, Bolivia, and Ecuador. During this period was night engineer with the Morgan Line, in charge of tug boats in New York harbor; then was 3rd ass't Engineer with Standard Oil Co. running between New York and the Gulf of Mexico; then as 2nd Ass't Engineer with the Grace Steamship Co, running to South America; then with the Mallory Steamship Co, running between New York and Florida; resigned from this to volunteer in the U.S. Naval reserve Force, in February/1918.

Was released from service after the signing of the Armistice, and made application for service as inspector of machinery for the U.S. Shipping Board, was accepted and first assigned to duty in Great Lakes District, and later assigned to Atlantic Coast duty at Newport News Shipyard at Norfolk, Va. Am occupying this position at the present date, June, 1920.
